REPORT OF BOARD OF HEALTH

The year has been one of freedom from any serious visitation of disease although there were two cases of scarlet fever both of which recovered without any spread of the disease.

There was quite an epidemic of measles many of the cases of which might have been avoided had those exposed been a little more careful in regard to endangering others.

There are a few people who forget, or rather are selfish enough not to care at all for others that their right of personal freedom extends only so far as it does not interfere with the rights of their neighbors.

Remember that in many of the infectious and contagious diseases the danger of spreading exists in the earliest stage and let those who have been exposed be a little more careful.

You may sometimes expose your neighbor before you are conscious of feeling ill yourself.

If anyone has been exposed to or has suffered an attack of any communicable disease, he should not go about among others until all danger of giving them the disease is past.

No matter whether the disease is usually considered dangerous or otherwise. Exceptionally the generally mild disease may take a severe form and, too, there are unpleasant and dirty diseases that we do not care to suffer, even if they are not dangerous.

H. L. SWEENY,
J. W. PRESCOTT,
E. R. GEORGE,

Board of Health.

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF NICHOLS MEMORIAL LIBRARY

When the library facilities of Kingston are compared with those of most towns of the same population, one comes to realize, in some degree, the advantages this town enjoys in the Nichols Memorial Library. The spacious reading room, supplied with all that is best in current literature; fitted with electric lights and comfortably warmed in winter, makes a most delightful place either for the student in his investigations, or the general reader intent on finding what the latest magazines contain. The townspeople are more and more coming to realize this fact and so are making greater use of the room. As the years go by and the library increases in number of volumes its value and its usefulness also increase. In their selection of books, the trustees have aimed to supply the ever-present demand for current fiction as well as to make it a working library for the student. In biography, history and poetry, the library is especially strong.

As the study of current events and the debating of important questions are more and more forming a part of the school work of the young people, the preservation of all the leading magazines becomes more and more necessary; for in the magazines are to be found the most important articles on current topics. Hence the trustees each year devote a part of the money to the binding of the magazines so as to bring this material within the reach of all interested in it. Probably no books in the library are used as much as the bound copies of St.

Nicholas. The earlier copies have been read and re-read by the children until they have fallen to pieces.

A beginning has been made in collecting old town report and copies of any old publications relating to the affairs of the town. Any one having anything of this nature is invited to contribute it to this collection so that such publications may become accessible to the general reader.

The trustees recommend the same appropriation as last year, one hundred dollars.

Z. WILLIS KEMP,
H. L. SWEENEY,
FRANK W. WHIPPEN,
Trustees.

REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD

It is with much pleasure that the school board brings to your attention the favorable condition of the schools at the present time. Now, as never before in the history of the town, our teachers are all normal graduates or holders of state certificates. It may seem at first glance that we might be more economical in regard to salaries, but when we realize that for each teacher we receive a rebate of $2.00 per week, amounting this year to $432.00. We feel justified in keeping our schools the usual length of time, although our balance in the treasury is somewhat less than it has been in the last two or three years.

We note with much satisfaction the progress in music of our children under the direction of Mr. C. L. Akeley, and it is earnestly hoped that the voting members of the district will be present at our school meeting to uphold the raising of sufficient money to continue this very important instruction.

We are glad that so many names appear on the honor list in spite of the inclement weather, and would especially mention the four pupils whose attendance has been perfect: Clinton Avery, Herbert C. Nason, J. Howard Senter, Arthur H. Sisson.
